LATER FROM CUBA. Arrival of Santa Anna-Mr. King's Health Improving-

Insurrection in Yucatan, NEW YORK, Feb. 4. By the Empire City we have letters from Havana which state that Santa Anna was momentarily expected in the British steamer from St. Thomas on his way to Mexico.

The Marquis of Posells Delles was still confined in the Moro on charges of being connected with the Lopez expedition. Mr. Everett's Letter to the French Minister was much liked by the Creoles for its manly, straightforward reasoning

A few days previous to the sailing of the Empire City, a Lieutenant of the Spanish Navy, with twelve men, boarded the slaver Arogate Amena, while she lay under the guns of the British man-ofwar Vesto, and drove the officers and crew from her decks and took possession of the brig. Capt. Hamilton, the commander of the British squadron, had addressed a strong remonstrance to the Capt. General. He has also determined to order no more slave prizes to Havana, for adjudication, but to send them to America.

A private letter from Key West, dated January 25, states that Mr. King's health is far better than when he left Norfolk. His cough is easier. He is getting better and stronger every day. His physicians express strong hopes that he will yet re-

A STORY WITH A MORAL.—Some years ago Mr. R., an American gentlemen, having discovered some new process by which he thought money could be made in England, concluded to try his fortune in London. Very soon after his arrival, he presented himself at the office of one of the leading journals, and requested to see the editor. He was desired to give in his name and business, which he did, and an answer was speedily brought that the editor was engaged. By dint of great urrency, he at last succeeded in making his way to the room of the sub-editor, and, having never found any diffithat it would be received as a favor, and duly glorified, as a matter of course, in the next day's impression! Before he had fairly made his beginning, however, the sub-editor cut him short, politely but firmly, by saying he had no time to spare, and that he presumed his visitor's object was to have his discovery noticed. "Why, yes sir, I should like-" "It can't be done sir, without trouble; write whatever you like, it shall go in; of course you will leave your name and address. The clerk in the office will arrange with you as to terms Good morning. sir," Finding himself bowed out, Mr. R. went back to the office, where he was furnished with pen, ink and paper, sat down, and in the course of some twenty minutes produced an editorial paragraph of perhaps twice that number of lines. This he handed to the clerk, merely asking whether it would appear the next day. "Certainly, sir. Editor al?"

"Yes, sir, in the editorial columns." "I presume you would not wish it in the largest type used on the paper?"

"Why, yes, sir, I should prefer that." "In that case, sir, the charge will be ten guineas; if in smaller type, five." Mr. R. took his manuscript and withdrew.

NASHVILLE, TENN.

FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 11, 1853.

MR. FILLMORE'S TACTICS. The proclivity of whig Presidents to do little things seems absolutely irresistible. The impulsion which urges them to the doing of wrong is so uncontrollable that it is hardly logical to hold them to the recognition of those responsibilities applicable to better regulated minds.

It has generally been considered wrong in an administration, on the eve of its close, to make any important executive appointments or nominations, unless necessary from some unusual exigency. This rule of political morals and personal delicacy has, within the last few weeks, been wantonly violated by Mr. Fillmore. Notwithstanding the rejection of one nomination for the office of Supreme Judge, made vacant by the death of Judge McKinley, Mr. Fillmore has disregarded this rebuke of the Senate and again sent in another nomination. And as if to bribe a compliance with his ultra-partyism, he has this time nominated a member of the Senate, in the hope, doubtless, that the personal relations existing among the members of that body would prompt a confirmation of the nominee. Mr. Badger, of North Carolina, is the favored recipient of the smiles of this expiring administration. The qualifications of Mr. Badger do not affect the view of the subject here presented, and we shall not therefore discuss them farther than to say, that this Union does not present a more thorough and bitter federalist. The confirmation of his nomination will place upon the Supreme Bench another federalist, and we believe, make that department of the government as thoroughly whig as the Presidency itself now is. We know of no parallel to this wrong except in the case of the Elder Adams, whose midnight commissions on the 3d of March, 1801, were made so notorious, and became so universally denounced. Mr. Polk nominated Mr. Hannegan, of Indiana, minister to Austria, towards the close of his administration, but before doing it consulted and received the concurrence of Gen. Taylor. This case is not, therefore, analogous, as President Polk was

This is not the only instance of this sort traceable to Mr. Fillmore. But a few weeks have elapsed since this community was shocked by the news of the death of H. M. Burton, Esq., commercial agent to St. Thomas. The tears of relatives and friends are yet bedewing his grave, and the wail of lament still sounds upon the ear. While friends and relatives are bowed down in grief by the loss of this gentleman, we see from the public papers, that Mr. Fillmore "by and with the advice and consent of the" Senate," has appointed one William H. Lord, of Wisconsin, to fill the vacant place. The cagerness to gratify party spirit and reward partisans, is truly a violent passion with the model President. The 4th of March, thanks to the intelligence of the people, closes his power.

A new bank has been established at Knoxville, under the name of the "Bank of Knoxville," It is based upon State stocks. W. M. Churchwell is President, and Samuel Morrow, Cashier, Mexico and the United States,-Many of our newspapers are speculating upon the probability of war with Mexico. One thing is pretty certain, that Mexico, like the "rest of mankind," emboldened by the tame policy of the Fillmore administration is most contemptuously indifferent to the just rights of this government. The incoming of a new administration, it is hoped, will bring her to her senses. We call attention to the resolutions of Mr. Mason on this subject.

President Fillmore, it is supposed, will make a visit to the South soon after the 4th of March, and we notice that a public meeting is suggested at Wilmington, N. C., to make arrangements to give him a suitable reception.

New Territory .- A bill is pending before Congress to establish a new territory in Oregon, to be called Washington. The propriety of the name cannot fail to suggest itself to every patriotic heart .-There is no State of that name in the Union, and there should be one. We are not in favor though of carving this free territory into too many States, while it is impossible to get Congress to form any more territories where slavery does or will exist,-The formation of this territory is probably proper enough, however,

Col. Jack Hays nor Killed .-- We learn from Maj. Eastland that this gallant gentleman, whose I to the opposite side of the street, where he fell, and death was reported, is still alive and unharmed .-Maj. Eastland received a letter from his son, dated San Francisco, December 31st, which says that Col. Hays was then in San Francisco, and would start for the United States on the steamer which was to leave on the 15th of January. It is consequently scarcely possible that the news of his death can be correct.

The letter makes no mention of the death of Catharine Hayes. We presume this to be an error likewise. This letter of Major Eastland's son came by the last steamer, and is consequently as late intelligence as we have from California.

RAILROAD TO THE PACIFIC.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:

The new project for the Pacific Railroad, which Gen. Rusk has brought in from a select committee, is likely to give general satisfaction. A scheme which, after due consideration, has received the unqualified assent of such experienced and well judging men as Gen. Rusk, John Davis and John Bell will necessarily commend the public confidence. This project authorises the President to provide for the survey of the route, and the location of the road, and then to advertise for proposals for the execution of the work, and make a contract accordingly. Twenty millions in money, and a certain number of alternate sections of land on either side of the culty in obtaining a hearing from gentlemen of the | road, are the proposed means for the construction of press in his own country, where the time of an edi- the work. This plan will command more votes for is considered almost public property, he pro | than Dr. Gwinn's, and he will probably yield his ceeded at once to explain his discovery, supposing own preference in favor of any more practicable scheme. I have no doubt, however, that the better plan would be to adopt the bill proposed by the New York company. That would secure the execution of the work in the shortest possible time, and in the best manner. I apprehend that if the contract is to be given to the lowest bidders, it will be got by some irresponsible parties, who will make a botch of the whole work, or fail to execute it, or come upon Congress for additional compensation.

> President Fillmore will be accompanied on his Southern tour by Secretaries Conrad and Stuart, and probably other Secretaries. The President never has been in the South-West.

A Paris Correspondent of the Washington Republic says:-Americans are getting into difficulties in Europe A passenger by the New York packet Isaac Bell was arrested on Thursday at Havre for having upon his person and in his trunk a very of Mr. O. Rachel. The man killed Rachel's wife large quantity of Socialist pamphlets. The Ant-werp Custom House has seized on board of an chel. THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICO.-The subject of our relations with Mexico, touching the Tehuantepec question, was taken up in the Senate on last

It may be recollected that at the end of August last, within a day or two of the final close of the long session of Congress, the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations made a report concluding with the following resolutions:

Resolved, As the judgment of the Senate, that, in the present posture of the question on the grant of a right of way through the territory of Mexico, at the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, conceded by that republic to one of its citizens, and now the property of citizens of the United States, as the same is presented by the correspondence and documents accompanying the message of the President of the United States of the 27th July, 1852, it is not compatible with the dignity of this Government to in the Oregon controversy, under the pressure of prosecute the subject further by negotiation.

2. Should the Government of Mexico propose a renewal of such negotiation, it should be acceded o only upon distinct propositions from Mexico, not consistent with the demands made by this Government in reference to said grant.

3. That the Government of the United States stands committed to all its citizens to protect them in their rights, abroad as well as at home, within the sphere of its jurisdiction; and should Mexico within a reasonable time, fail to reconsider her position concerning said grant, it will then become the duty of this Government to review all existing relations with that republic, and to adopt such measures as will preserve the honor of the country and the rights of its citizens.

FOR THE NASHVILLE UNION.

Pulaski, Feb. 2, 1853.

Editor of the Union :- I see that our friends from various parts of the State are urging, through the medium of the Union, the nomination of certain candidates for the Governorship; each one, in a spirit of union and friendly rivalry, pressing the claims of his particular favorite, or sectional leader. This is well-as it ever should be in a land of freedom

But we of Giles, (might I not say, gallant Giles?) having in view only the good of the country, and the triumph of the principles, which will affect that good, are willing to drop all local preferences, and follow as a leader to battle-Andrew Johnson, of EAST TENNESSEE. THE AFFRAY AT WASHINGTON.—The Republic, of Thursday, gives the following account of the street rencounter mentioned in a telegraphic dispatch a

Last evening, about half past six o'clock, as Mr. Edward H. Fuller was about to enter the National Hotel, he was met by Jas. W. Schaumberg, formerly of the United States dragoons, who, without the exchange of any words, discharged a pistol at Mr. Fuller, wounding him severely in the right side.-Mr. Fuller immediately retreated into the street, passing between the hackney carriages, and crossed was then conveyed into the Waverly House. The wound was pronounced to be in all probability mortal. Mr. Fuller was sensible up to that hour. Mr. Schaumberg, upon Mr. Fuller retreating, supposed, as we are informed, that his fire had taken no effect, pursued Mr. Fuller nearly to the other side of the avenue, when, by the interference of bystanders and others, and upon the information that Fuller had fallen, he retraced his steps to the hotel, and ascended to his room. He was arrested there shortly after by some officers. Much indignation at his conduct was expressed by the crowd who had congregrated at the doors and in the office of the hotel.

He was conveyed to the office of B. K. Morsell, Esq., and shortly after the Hon. John P. Hale appeared as counsel. The facts having been detailed, and the probable death of Mr. Fuller ascertained, Schaumberg was committed to fail for further examination, an offer to get bail being refused. The immediate cause of this unhappy event was the appearance of large placards on Monday morning posted in the vicinity of all the hotels, headed "James W. Schaumberg, a liar, a coward, and a swindler," and which contained a statement tending to show and prove Schaumberg to be guilty of lying, cowardice, and swindling, interspersed with many other opprobrious epithets.

It appears that Schaumberg was indebted to Mr. Fuller, and that ill feeling had existed between them for a considerable time, and which, on a former occasion, led Schaumberg to make a publication concerning Fuller, and Fuller to make a personal assault on Schaumberg.

A telegraphic dispatch says: Schaumberg is now in jail, where he has been visited this morning by nearly half the Senate, all pledging aid and support. The grand jury, now in session, will consider the case as soon as the result of the wound becomes evident. Any amount of bail has been offered. After the altercation a number of hackmen and others pursued Schaumberg with brickbats, crying "kill him!" Schaumberg then drew a knife, faced the mob and told them he was responsible for what had been done, and drove them back. The sentiment of the better classes is generally in favor of Schaumberg.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.-We learn from the clerk of the steamer Texas Ranger the following particulars with regard to a most singular and horrible tragedy which occured at Campte, on the 24th inst. On Saturday night, the 24th, a man, name unknown, was put ashore by some boat at the landing 29th ult.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

The Banner has three or four short editorials .-Our neighbor talks about critical relations with Mexico, forgetful of the fact that it was the duty of President Fillmore to have adjusted this matter definitely before now. It seems to be a peculiarity of the whig party to never adjust any foreign misunderstanding. They left the Oregon controversy for President Polk to settle. They now leave unadjusted the Central America affair with England, and the Tehuantepec difficulty with Mexico. Should future circumstances force a resort to war for the vindication of national honor or the protection of national rights, the old cry of an unrighteous war will again, as in Polk's days, be made to screech its ery over the land. If the democratic party, as whig peaceableness, make an adjustment, it is wantonly held up as having sacrificed the rights of the country. If it takes a manly stand, as with Mexico in 1846, and war follows, a World's Peace Society is not more horrified at the sacrifice of human life than the whig party. War becomes at once the invention of the devil. Crocodile tears are shed over the "enreturning brave," and every appliance of rhetorical exaggeration unsparingly employed to excite and elicit the sympathies of the

The American has an article contradicting the want of courtesy and hospitality on the part of Mr. Polk to Gen. Taylor.

The Gazette has an excellent article on Mexico .-The distracted and revolutionary state of that na-Con is a pregnant theme for reflection. Liquors usually settle after fermentation, but with Mexico the analogy does not exist. One fermentation follows another, like the waves of the sea, and it seems that no particular body can be extracted from its antagonist and non-commingling elements. In all cities there are a class of street loafers, who live upon the lunches spread at the fashionable saloons. The condition of Mexico is not dissimilar. She seems to live upon the bunch of a daily revolution. The True Whig has no editorial, besides some leaded news items.

HOTEL ON BROADWAY .- We see by yesterday's Evening News that the enterprising citizens of Broadway and vicinity are contemplating the erection of a magnificent Hotel in that part of the city. The committee, appointed for the purpose of ascertaining what amount of stock could be raised report $30,000 as certain, with a probability of raising the amount to $60,000 if necessary. Judging from the character of the men interested in this enterprise it is bound to succeed. Success to it say we. The wants of that part of the city require a fine Hotel, and we hope to see our citizens engage in this laudible undertaking with alacrity. The following is extracted from the proceedings of a meeting held at the house of John M. Bass on Broadway. Resolved, That, in view of the vast importance of a suitable Hotel on Broadway, books be opened for the subscription of five hundred shares of stock.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. Senate.-The bill granting further remedies to patentees was passed by yeas 21, nays 15. The resolutions in regard to the Garay grant were taken up, and Mr. Seward addressed the con-

A message was received from the President covering a report of the Secretary of State, relative to the negotiations pending between this Government and Great Britain on the subject of the fisheries and reciprocal intercourse with the provinces, and navigation of the St. Lawrence and canals connected therewith. The Secretary says the government of England is prepared to enter into an arrangement for the admission of the fishing vessels of the United States to a full participation in the public @h. eries on the coasts of the provinces, with the exception, at present, of New Foundland, and in the right of drying and curing their fish on the shore, on condition of the admission, duty free, into the markets of the United States, the products of the colonies. Similar privileges, on like conditions, to be reciprocally enjoyed by British subjects on the coasts and shores of the United States. It is also understood that the British government is desirous, in concert with the provinces, to come to an agreement with the United States for the reciprocal free trade with the provinces in certain national productions, and that the free navigation of the St. Lawrence, the Welland canal, and Bidau canal would be conceded as a part of the arrangement.

House.-A message was received from the Secretary of State, recommending the passage of an act of Congress, admitting provincial fish free of duty into the United States, on condition that the firshermen of the U. S. be admitted into the full participation of the provincial fisheries. The plessage was referred, and the House went into Committee of the Whole upon the bill to establish a territory to be composed of all that portion of Oregon lying South of 49 deg., N. L., and North of the Columbia river from its mouth where the 46th d gree of north latitude crosses said river, and the North with the 46th degree to the summit of Rocky Mountains.

On motion of Mr. Stanley, the name of the terra tory was altered to that of Washington, and the bill was ordered to be printed. The bill to establish the territorial government
